D A A 7 D Furthermore Christian soldiers, marching in war, D A 7 D With the Cross of Jesus that has happened before; On the mark of triumph, Satan's host flees; Then, christian soldiers, to victory! Hell's foundations tremble at the cry of praise; Brethren, raise your voice, raise loud hymns. Furthermore, Christian soldiers, marching to war, with the Cross of Jesus that had happened before. Just as a powerful army propels the Church of God; Brethren, we tread where the Saints stepped on. We are not divided, all one body of us, one in hope and doctrine, one for charity. Furthermore, Christian soldiers, marching to war, with the Cross of Jesus that had happened before. What the Saints have established and what I hold for the truth. What the Saints believed, which I believe in. As the earth endures, the people that faith will hold, the kingdoms, the nations, the empires, in destruction, are rolling. Furthermore, Christian soldiers, marching to war, with the Cross of Jesus that had happened before. Crowns and thrones may fail, kingdoms rise and weaken, but church Jesus' constant will remain. The gates of hell can never get the church to prevail; We have Christ's own promise, and it cannot fail. Furthermore, Christian soldiers, marching to war, with the Cross of Jesus that had happened before. Furthermore, folks, join our happy crowd, blend with our voices in the winning song. Glory, praise and honor to Christ the King, this through countless ages of men and angels of glory.
